

Track D: Social, Behavioural and Implementation Science

Enbal Shacham, United States

Enbal Shacham is a faculty member in the College for Public Health and Social Justice at Saint Louis University, Missouri, US. She has conducted US- and international-based sexual health research, mostly focusing on HIV infection. She broadly examines how the physical and social environment may influence health behaviours and outcomes, and this is specifically applied to HIV management and sexually transmitted infection rates.